

'Blackface Trudeau' arrested for trying to provoke George Floyd protesters in Toronto (VIDEO)

6 Jun, 2020 21:21 / Updated 5 days ago

© Twitter / @meyer_lucas

Facebook 205 | Twitter | Reddit 1 | Telegram | Messenger | WhatsApp | Email

Follow RT on

Google News

Things got heated during a George Floyd rally in Toronto after a white man, who had his face painted black, attempted to join the demonstrators. Police officers arrested him after being barraged with complaints.

The troublemaker apparently tried to provoke the crowd supporting the Black Lives Matter movement, but luckily for him the protesters in Canada's largest city turned out to be a lot less violent than their counterparts in the US.

The demonstrators refrained from using force against the man, making do with shouting obscenities and demanding the police to detain him.

The guy was instantly nicknamed “Blackface Trudeau” by the protesters in reference to last year’s scandal when photos of Canada’s Prime Minister Justin Trudeau wearing blackface at a school party surfaced.

“Arrest Trudeau,” they shouted, and officers on bicycles who were deployed at the rally answered their call.

 The Post Millennial
@TPostMillennial

LIVE in downtown Toronto

A man in blackface was just arrested by Toronto police as he attempted to join a Black Lives Matter protest.

 199 11:02 AM - Jun 6, 2020

 245 people are talking about this

The black-faced man was escorted out of Nathan Phillips Square and put in a police car. However, he still treated the whole thing as a joke, continuing to smile and shout slogans.