

Hatred for Obama Presidency Spreading Institutionally

November 6th, 2013 • 9:24 AM

Not only is the name "Obama" a subject of hatred in Europe and throughout the Arab world. Increasingly, American patriots, some in key positions within the military, intelligence, diplomatic, and business establishments, are reaching the point that they hate Obama even more than their foreign counterparts. A number of leading institutional figures, including some well-known individuals, have come forward in recent days to express their horror at the degree to which the Obama presidency has totally broken down and is leading to the global isolation and discrediting of the United States. According to one such leading figure, no one inside the Obama Administration can fathom where the policy decisions and pronouncements from Obama's mouth are coming from. There is a total breakdown of any deliberative process, and increasingly, leading Administration figures, from Kerry to Hagel to General Dempsey, are finding themselves baffled by policies that they are supposed to go out and defend. There is a consensus among these individuals that, while the first Obama term in office was a disaster, at least there were competent individuals in key positions who had some input into the policy debates — even when they disagreed with the ultimate policy decisions. In the first nine months of the second term, there simply is no policy deliberation whatsoever, and the consequences are even more disastrous.

Some of the strongest reactions against the Obama White House meltdown are coming in response to discussions about the assessment that Lyndon LaRouche presented on Sunday in discussion with associates, when he warned that we have entered totally uncharted territory, where a major financial explosion or sudden outbreak of war could occur at any moment.

The breakdown of any policy deliberation is also intersecting a dangerous phenomenon within the population, which is the growing frequency of violent outbursts of insanity, from the LAX shootings to the more recent armed standoff at a New Jersey shopping mall. There is a general breakdown of social cohesion, driven in part by the Obama policies of brutal cuts in basic social services, the chaos of the government shutdown and the growing sense that the President is a pathological liar or worse.

As Lyndon LaRouche said this afternoon, after getting this picture, "The only way out of this mess is for Obama to be immediately impeached and removed from office — before he gets us all blown up." He added that the reason there is no pretense of policy deliberation is because the orders are coming to Obama directly from the genocidalists in
