

R.Cam @Logo_Daedalus6h • 15 tweets • 3 min read • X Read on X

The Platner thing goes to show you that leftoids they can't even accomplish what MAGA does, totally not caring about the interpersonal crimes of their candidate, focusing exclusively on hurting the perceived enemy & not caring about "personal conduct."

The whole thing with Trump is that it's not about his personal character, it's exclusively about punishing the enemy— that's all anyone got out of it— but "the left" conceive of voting as the "one degree of kevin bacon" to their personal sense of moral dignity politeness decorum etc.

If they had any real power as a movement they'd elect a nazi rapist blahblah who still promised to punish their enemies— the fact that this completely shuts them down proves that what matters most of all for the Democrat electorate is fashion.

Why is it that MAGA GRANDMA will say something like "oh I don't know about all those accusations" just pure willful ignorance & devotion to punishing the enemy— but BLUE MAGA GRANDMA who says "all registered republicans must be tried for crimes against humanity" — she can't even elect a rapist who promises to do that for her lol

No one is even going to try to forcefully deny the allegations on his team— they won't even lie to win — the Clintons would have had all of the accusers killed by the arkansas mafia. Trump, the humanitarian, just says "fake news" with a sardonic grin.

This is a very cynical thread but I'm not wrong here. Democrats want to elect politicians that do not exist— every politician is a pervert, a rapist, a criminal, etc. None of them are up to any good.

Obama was their perfect candidate— a complete nonentity, a never was, a fabrication, a superlative nobody who was very fashionable— fashionable also means easily persuadable. Obama brought in the wall street banks & said how can I help you, & he made that look good.

Obama identified no enemies— Obama was a messianic prophet of neoliberalism— everyone was going to reach across the aisle, a big kumbaya, the banks & you too, everyone together. He "went high" he did not "go low"— the dems are not good at "going low"— but that is all anyone wants

Back then, “going high” meant not supporting gay marriage fwiw— Obama positioned himself as a reluctant supporter of secular partnerships civil unions et al— this was the nuanced “respecting both sides” compromise stance which was very conservative for his party even.

The Democrats cannot rally around an actual crusade against an enemy— they are a good times party for Clintonian charismatic hypnosis. Republicans will elect someone like MTG to crash out like a kamikaze pilot, it’s again primarily about attacking the enemy, not holding hands.

There is no path forwards for Democrat-establishment linked “radical politics”— the only solution is “going lower” than MAGA & developing a third party which only insists on class warfare, punishing the enemy, very explicitly.

If you want to organize a revolutionary party of the working class, remember, the working class aren’t innocent teatotaling priests, you’re fighting for drunk drivers, wife abusers, date rapists, all manner of civic criminals who also so happen to be working class.

The average person is “unelectable”— someone from their high school will take their shot at spilling all the beans for a media payout. Their comments on Pornhub will leak etc. They’ll be hiring their friends & family & abusing their power like anyone else.

The whole Platner thing is fake shit. I half expect he was a plant to actually emphasize the necessity of Democrats picking institutional candidates & further bifurcating from any pretense of a working class base. The DSA is being set up to fail spectacularly.

But all of this is necessary— the masses will become more cynical & go lower. At the core they will find Communism.